30-Day Social Media Growth & Conversion Plan

TikTok + Instagram organic strategy, content calendar, and UI commercial brief

Prepared for the founder — athlete-led launch

1. The Goal — and an Honest Reframe

Stated goal: 1,000 people, then 6,000 people, within 30 days. Whether that's realistic depends entirely on whether “people” means free signups or paid subscribers.

Metric	30-day feasibility	Why
6,000 free signups (Other tier + browsers)	Achievable	One athlete-POV TikTok that hits can reach 500K+ views.
6,000 paid subscribers ($5.99/mo)	Extremely unlikely	That is ~$36K MRR from a standing start — a rare outlier for any bootstrapped product in month one.

The winning approach is a funnel, not a single number:

1. Acquire thousands of FREE signups (the Other tier) — they cost nothing and generate content + social proof.
2. Get athletes to leave reviews — this is your content moat and the reason the next person subscribes.
3. Convert a slice (realistically 2–5%) to paid once they hit the “I need to post my own review” moment.

The free Other tier is the top of this funnel. Lead with free; upsell to paid.

2. Your Unfair Advantage: An Athlete With a Network

Do not start with cold ads. Start warm. Seed the platform with real reviews from athletes you personally know so it isn't a ghost town when strangers arrive.

Week 0 — Warm Seed (before any public content)

- DM 30–50 athletes you know: teammates, opponents, friends on other teams.
- Ask each to sign up and leave ONE honest review of a coach, program, or dorm they've experienced.
- Target: 50–100 reviews live BEFORE you post a single TikTok.

This is the single most important step. An empty review site converts no one.

3. 30-Day Organic Content Plan (TikTok + Instagram, $0 budget)

Content Pillars (rotate these)

Pillar	Why it converts	Example hook
Founder story	Athletes trust athletes building for athletes	"I'm a college athlete and I built the app coaches don't want you to have."
Controversy / relatability	Drives comments + shares	"Recruits get lied to on visits. So I built a place to expose it."
Receipts / proof	Shows the product is real + useful	Screen-record a real, brutal review (name blurred).
Utility	"This helps me" = signup	"How to check if a coach is actually toxic before you commit."
POV / skits	TikTok-native, high reach	"POV: you're a recruit and the coach was nothing like the visit."

Cadence

- Post 1–2x/day on TikTok; repost the best to Instagram Reels (same content, both platforms).
- TikTok is your discovery engine; Instagram is your credibility and retention layer.
- First 30 days = volume + iteration. Most posts flop. You're farming for the 1–2 that hit.

Week-by-Week

Week	Theme	Focus
Week 1	Founder + problem	Your story; plant the problem ("athletes have no honest place to talk about coaches"). Soft CTA: link in bio → free signup.
Week 2	Proof + utility	Show real anonymized reviews; "how to vet a program" educational content; start the controversy angle in comments.
Week 3	Social proof + FOMO	"X athletes already reviewing"; duet/stitch recruiting stories → "post this on the site"; push the verified-athlete angle.
Week 4	Conversion push	"Why it's free to read but verified to post"; highlight paid value (anonymous but verified); direct CTA to subscribe.

4. The UI Commercial — Shot-by-Shot Brief

Total length: 20–25 seconds (TikTok / Reels sweet spot). Produce in CapCut (free) using screen recordings of the live site. Vertical 9:16, captions always on.

Primary Cut: “The Honest Athlete”

Time	Visual	Audio / Text overlay
0:00–0:02	HOOK — your face, fast close-up, gym or dorm background	“Coaches lie during recruiting. Here's how athletes fight back.”
0:02–0:05	Screen-record: scrolling the search page, university cards flying by	Text: “Real reviews. Verified athletes only.”
0:05–0:09	Screen-record: tap a coach profile, grade badge + reviews animate in	Text: “Rate coaches, programs, NIL, dorms, campus life.”
0:09–0:13	Screen-record: the verification flow, “Verified Athlete ✓” badge appears	“Every reviewer is a verified athlete or student. No fakes.”
0:13–0:17	Screen-record: posting a review as “Anonymous Verified Athlete”	Text: “Anonymous to the public. Verified behind the scenes.”
0:17–0:21	Montage: 3–4 fast UI shots (dorm page, filters, groups)	Text: “Know before you commit.”
0:21–0:25	CTA — logo, URL, your face again	“Free to read. Link in bio. MyUniversityVerified.com”

Production Notes (all free tools)

- Screen recording: iPhone built-in recorder on the live site, or QuickTime on Mac. Record slow, deliberate scrolls; speed up 1.5–2x in editing.
- Editing: CapCut (free). Use auto-captions; layer a rising trending sound at low volume under your voiceover.
- The hook is everything: the first 2 seconds decide whether the video lives or dies. Make 5 hook variants for the same body footage and test.
- Vertical 9:16, captions on (80% of viewers watch muted).
- Trending audio: pick a sound that's rising, not peaked — check TikTok Creative Center.

Make 3 Variants to Test

1. “The Honest Athlete” — utility / problem angle (above).
2. “Coaches don't want this” — controversy angle, same footage, spicier hook.
3. “I built this” — founder story, more you on camera, less UI.

Post all 3 across a week. Double down on whichever earns the most watch-time + saves.

5. Conversion Mechanics — Viewers to Subscribers

1. Link in bio points straight to /pricing (already the entry point).
2. The free Other tier removes the signup wall: people join free, browse, get hooked, then hit “I want to post MY review” → paywall → subscribe.
3. Referral loop: end every post with “tag a teammate who needs to see their coach's reviews.”
4. Reviews ARE the demo: every juicy anonymized review you post is itself an ad.

6. Priority Checklist

When	Action	Why
This week	Warm-seed 50–100 real reviews from athletes you know	Empty site = zero conversions. Non-negotiable first step.
This week	Produce 3 commercial variants in CapCut	Gives you content to test which angle converts.
Days 1–30	Post 1–2x/day; iterate on what hits	Volume + iteration is how organic reach is won.
Ongoing	Track which video drives the most /pricing visits	Double down on the winning angle; use UTM links + Vercel analytics.

Bottom line: optimize for free signups + reviews first. They build the content moat and the social proof that make paid conversions possible. Traction comes before monetization — not the other way around.
